

PA residents could look sharp in unity T-shirts

Not so long ago T-shirts were worn under clothes and no one ever expected them to send a message about the wearer's personality, moral compass, etc. Some message shirts are offensive, but OriginONE is a company trying to unite a divided society. Couture with a cause can look and feel so good, with 10 percent of profits going to UNICEF and Families Thru International Adoption.

Many of Port Arthur's cultures are "representin'" in a shirt reading "I am Black, I am White, I am Latino, I am Asian", on a pre-washed cotton shirt. The back reads "I am Human, I am OriginONE." Comfort and harmony get a makeover you've got to love. Visit www.IAmOriginOne.com for specifics.

SOUNDS GOOD

Darragh Doiron