

WE'RE HERE, WE'RE ONE, GET USED TO IT

Hubby and wife team Robert and Liz Pagliarini were inspired by their adopted daughter to create "couture for a cause" to speak up about unity. We so hearted their concept that we asked them to tell us more about OriginOne (iamoriginone.com). "My husband realized that even though he wasn't her 'birth' father, he was still related to her," says Liz. "If you go back far enough, we're all related. We want to get conversations started and to convert those with the most prejudices to our cause." She also shares that while the T-shirt line focuses on race, their message is about human oneness and not just racial oneness. They intend to create new lines that bring all kinds of differences together. "We'll let you in on a secret," Liz whispers. "Our dream is to launch a new line of straight/gay shirts on the Ellen show." And whom would she like to see wear one of these shirts? "Picture this: Isaiah Washington taking off his OriginOne 'I am black, white, Latino, Asian' shirt and swapping it with Ellen's OriginOne 'I am gay, straight' shirt!" We say, "Cooliciousness!"

Tell us your idea to unite the world or share with us what OriginOne's slogan means to you. Send an email to editor@instinctmag.com with your mailing address and size. The best answers will get a hand-crafted, custom T all their own—MIKE WOOD